ABOUT ASIS- WHAT WE DO

Anglo Schools International Services (ASIS) Ltd is a UK-based education services company, formed in 2013 by Mr David Boddy, Headmaster of St James Senior Boys' School, London. David was formerly Chairman of the UK's Society of Headteachers. He is the author of 'Mind Your Head: An Emotional Intelligence Guide for School Leaders.' His second book, 'Mind Their Hearts: Creating Schools & Homes of Warm Heartedness', is published in January 2017.

We are passionate about education, with its holistic approach and our aim is to make this available to students wherever they come from. We provide an advisory service for students wishing to be educated in the UK, Ireland, the USA and other regions such as the Netherlands helping them access the best schools and universities. We also assist international students in the UK with all aspects of their educational journey and moving forward to post graduate studies, leadership skills, internship programs and job opportunities. We work overseas both to establish international schools and to help improve existing standards.

We believe that a student does not need to take this all important journey alone and we proudly provide support and guidance along the way – from school to university, through to internships and training and moving on to leadership development and ultimately, a successful career and bright future. Our service delivery, primarily concentrated in the Indian market, has gradually achieved global presence over time. Our offices are situated in London and India. We also deploy regional representatives in the Middle East, China, Turkey, USA, and Nigeria.

BUSSATs- THE HELPFUL TESTER

The British Universities & Secondary Schools Achievement Tests– BUSSATs – measure the academic competency of pupils and students seeking entry to a UK school or university. The BUSSATs act a tool for students to know their academic level compared to other students as well as help position and place them at a school with the correct PSAPI score for them.

Anglo Schools International Services (ASIS) Ltd, pulled together a control group of Academic Directors from top UK Private Schools to develop a standardized testing protocol at 11+, 13+ and 16+. The tests have been trialled internationally for three years with a select group of UK boarding schools. Over 100 UK Private Schools have already expressed a willingness to accept the tests as entry evidence and many are preparing to create, for the first time, their own Index Score.

BUSSATs are designed to measure students' ability in English comprehension & grammar, Maths (at basic, advanced and super-advanced levels) and General Knowledge (history, geography, science, current affairs and sport). They correlate to the three main UK private school entry points. The results, provided in % format as well as via an Index Score, demonstrate whether the student is capable of managing the UK curriculum.
